

Hispania

Hispania was the name given by the ancient Romans to the Iberian Peninsula. It is believed that the word meant “land of rabbits”.

When the Roman legions conquered territories, became provinces of his empire, leaving Hispania divided into 5 provinces: Baetica, Lusitania, Gallaecia, Tarragona and Cartaginense.

These names gave rise to cities and provinces of the peninsula, could associate each province with a current city or province?

Andalusia:

Lusitania:

Gallaecia:

Tarraconense:

Cartaginense:

Now that you know which cities or current provinces led these Roman names, try to identify each in the map below.

